OVERVIEW

This course is an introduction to gender and women’s studies from a humanities perspective. We will develop a critical gender analysis by studying cultural representations ranging from literary (novels, memoirs, poems) to mass media (TV, internet, music) to material (clothing, cosmetics, toys) to political (speeches, law, grassroots organizing). Our analysis will be shaped by an intersectional approach, which means that gender will always be examined in interaction with race, class, sexuality, and dis/ability to reveal how identities and systems of power are shaped by multiple forces. This course has a particular focus upon the experiences and representations of women in the United States, but places that focus in relation to many other contexts, including global gender relations and the perspectives of male and transgender/genderqueer people.

The course is organized into four sections: Gender, Sex, and Power; Bodies and Culture; Feminist Movements; and Beyond the Third Wave. In each section, we will study a range of cultural texts to explore how gendered representations produce social, political, and personal implications. We will also consider how feminist thought has evolved in the past and present, and what futures lie ahead for feminist movements.

It is not necessary to embrace a certain political or ideological attitude in this class. We welcome diverse viewpoints as we delve into the central questions of this class: How do meanings of gender shape self and society? How does gender intersect with race, class, sexuality, and dis/ability? What is the role of representation in reflecting or producing social change?

Remember, it is unlikely that you will agree with everything you read or hear in this class—and sometimes a critical disagreement is exactly the response from which we all learn the most. The most important requirements for this class are an open mind, respect for different viewpoints, and the ability to listen thoughtfully and compassionately to each other.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

Plus ONE of the following, to be decided in your first section:

Maxine Hong Kingston. The Woman Warrior.
Audre Lorde. Zami: A New Spelling of My Name.

You MUST have the 4th edition of Women: Images and Realities. For the other books, any standard edition is acceptable. Books have been ordered at A Room of One’s Own bookstore, 307 W. Johnson St., 257-7888. All books are also on reserve at College Library (Helen C. White).

All other course readings are available as Electronic Reserves (ER) which can be accessed through the class Learn@UW page under the “Content” tab.
COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

1) Attendance: Attendance in this class is required in both lectures and sections.
   - Lectures: Attendance will be taken in every lecture. Each lecture absence above three (3) per semester will result in a five (5) percentage point reduction of your semester grade (i.e. a 90% AB would become an 85% B). Lecture notes and powerpoint slides will not be posted online or shared. If you must miss lecture, please obtain notes from a classmate or meet with your T.A. or Prof. Samuels to go over lecture material.
   - Discussion Sections: TAs will take attendance in every section. Each section absence above two (2) per semester will result in a five (5) percentage point reduction of your semester grade. In cases of serious illness, absences may be excused, but students are still responsible for making up all missed work in a timely fashion.
   - Religious Holidays: Absences from either lecture or section due to religious holidays will not be penalized. However, you must inform either the professor or your TA at least two weeks in advance if you are missing a lecture or section for religious reasons, and you are responsible for finding out what happened in class that day and for turning in assignments.

2) Discussion Posts (DUE: Weekly): You must post a discussion question or comment each week via Learn@UW. Instructions will be given in the first week’s section. Discussion posts must be posted by 7 p.m. each Wednesday, beginning Wed. Sep. 14 and ending Wed. Nov. 30, for a total of ten posts. (No post due Oct. 26 or Nov. 23.) Each post is worth 10 points out of a total of 100. Late posts receive 5 points.

3) Response Paper (DUE: Sep. 22): A 2-3 page paper responding to material covered in class so far. Guidelines for this paper will be distributed in class.

4) Midterm Exam (In class: Oct. 26): This in-class exam will consist of essays and short answers based on readings and lectures from the first half of the semester.

5) Critical Analysis Paper (DUE: Nov. 17): A four (4) page paper critically analyzing course readings. Prompts and guidelines for this paper will be distributed in class.

6) Memoir Presentation (In section Dec. 8 or 15): A short (10-15 minute) group presentation in section on the feminist memoir you read this semester. You will meet with your memoir group throughout the semester in section.

7) Final Exam (DUE: Dec. 19): This take-home exam will consist of essays and short answers based on readings and lectures from the second half of the semester. The final exam will include an essay question on your feminist memoir.

COURSE POLICIES AND RESOURCES:

1) Classroom Conduct: Please respect your fellow students’ right to a quiet and non-distracting learning environment. Cell phones, texting, Ipods, and other distractions of modern life are NOT allowed during class. If you use a laptop computer during class, you MUST SIT IN THE FIRST THREE ROWS OF THE CLASSROOM and you MAY NOT HAVE A WEB BROWSER OPEN AT ANY TIME. You may be asked to show your screen at any time, and if you are doing anything other than taking notes, your attendance will be zeroed for that day, and you will be banned from using a laptop in class.

2) Emails and Office Hours: The professor and section leaders will endeavor to respond to emails within 48 hours of receipt. Please do not rely entirely upon email to communicate with instructors: Emails are fine for short questions, but to discuss papers and exams, it is necessary to meet in person. We welcome you to office hours, and suggest you plan ahead to make appointments for the busy weeks before deadlines. Questions about grades will only be discussed during office hours or appointments, not over email or before/after class.

3) Late Paper Policy: Papers and exams turned in late will be penalized by five (5) percentage points for each 24-hour period after the due date. No late papers or exams will be accepted more than one week after the due date.

4) Academic Misconduct (Plagiarism and Cheating): This class will strictly follow and enforce the university’s policies on academic misconduct. UWS 14.03 defines academic misconduct to include acts in which a student seeks to claim credit for the work or efforts of another without authorization or citation. Examples include but are not limited to:
   - a. Cutting and pasting text from the web without quotation marks or proper citation.
b. Paraphrasing from the web or written texts without crediting the source.

c. Using notes in an exam when such use is not allowed.

d. Using another person’s ideas, words, or research and presenting it as one’s own.

Complete information on academic misconduct is at www.wisc.edu/students/saja/misconduct/academic_misconduct.html.

5) Writing Center: For additional help with papers, visit the Writing Center at any stage during the writing process. Stop by 6171 Helen C. White, call for an appointment (263-1992), or consult the Center’s resources online at www.wisc.edu/writing/.

Statement on Accessibility:
It is very important to us to fully include all students with disabilities, chronic health issues, or learning differences in this course. Please let both Prof. Samuels and your T.A. know as early in the semester as possible if you need any accommodations in the curriculum, instruction, or evaluation procedures in order to enable you to participate fully. The McBurney Center can provide useful assistance and documentation. The syllabus and all course materials are available in large print or electronic formats on request.

Statement on Grade Appeals:
If you have questions about a grade, please speak first to your T.A., and then, if needed, to Prof. Samuels. If the question is not resolved, speak with the Chair, Jane Collins, or Associate Chair, Judy Houck. They will attempt to resolve the issue informally and inform you of the Appeals Procedures if no resolution is reached informally.
